

AMERICAN GIRL TELLS OF HER EXPERIENCE AT BATTLE FRONT

Red Cross Volunteer Worked with Energy Over Her First Patient and was Shocked at Surgeon's Haste.

LONDON, May 4.—An American girl who recently volunteered for service with a Red Cross ambulance in Belgium sends the following account of her first case:

"The commandant doctor with whom I was assigned to work had taken me far up toward the front, where a Belgian battery was stationed. While he attended to some trifling injuries, there came the sound of cannonading, and news that the Germans were attacking the very section where we were working.

"Suddenly at what seemed the last minute of safety, two Belgian stretcher-bearers, without a stretcher, rushed up to me. They said there was a man badly wounded somewhere up the road. I found a stretcher and went off with them to look for him.

"We went on and on. It probably wasn't more than 500 yards, but it seemed impossible to find the house. Then some women came running and pointed out the place. The stretcher-bearers hurried off with their stretcher. I followed.

"The man, horribly hurt, with a wound like a red pit below his shoulder blades, was brought and laid on the stretcher. He lay there quietly on his side, in a posture of utter resignation to anguish.

"He was a Belgian peasant, clumsily built, he had a broad, rather ugly face, narrowing suddenly as the fringe of his whiskers became a little straggling beard. But to me he was the most beautiful person I had ever seen. I loved him. He was my first wounded man!

"I tried—I still try—to persuade myself that if I hadn't bullied my two bearers and repulsed an attempt to get my stretcher away for some other patients, he would have been left behind in that little house. We got him out of the yard all right, and on the paved road. Then, to my horror, the bearers dumped him down on the paving stones. They said he was much too heavy. They couldn't possibly carry him unless they rested.

"I didn't think it was exactly the moment for resting, and told them so in several languages. The Germans were likely to come around the turn in the road at any time. You never know!

"But the bearers stood stolidly in the middle of the road and nipped their faces and puffed. The situation began to be as absurd and terrible as a nightmare. So I grabbed on one end of the stretcher and said I would carry it myself. I said I wasn't very strong, and perhaps couldn't do it, but anyhow, I would try.

"They picked it up at once then, and started off at a good swinging trot over the rough paving stones, joining my poor patient horribly. I suggested that they walk on the smooth path at the side. They halted this suggestion as a most brilliant and original idea.

"As my patient was brought into the village where the battery was stationed, the ambulance had got its wounded and was ready to go. But he had to have his wound dressed. He lay there in the middle of the street and I had to watch while the surgeon stuffed his wound with antiseptic gauze. I had always supposed that the dressing of a wound was a cautious and delicate process. But it wasn't. Here was a careless audacity about it. The surgeon worked rapidly, unmoved, as if he were stuffing an old crate with straw. And it was all over in a moment or two. There seemed something indecent in the haste with which my Belgian was disposed of.

"Then the surgeon remarked casually that my patient's wound didn't amount to much. It looks worse than it really is," he said. I felt hurt, as if this beloved person had been slighted, also as if there had been some subtle disparagement of my aid."

HERE'S KAISER ON THE WESTERN FRONT

TENNIS CHAMPS TURN TO EL PASO TOURNAMENT

Interest is Lively in Border State
Meet Scheduled for May 27.

EL PASO, Texas, May 4.—Plans are now complete and the entry blanks and advertisements out for the fourth annual tennis tournament for the Border States championship at the southwestern district, to be held here May 27 to 31. The El Paso Country club's spacious courts will be the scene of the tourney, to which stars from all the southwest will come.

The feature matches will be those in which the old contenders for first honors, Horrell of Phoenix and Ferguson of El Paso will compete. Horrell beat Ferguson for the singles championship at Phoenix Country club last year, and this month's return match is expected to develop some hot contention between the two.

The published program of the arrangements committee shows the following matches open to all amateur players:

Gentlemen's singles, present champion, W. A. Horrell of Phoenix.

Gentlemen's doubles, present holder of cup, Horrell and Jack Almsworth of Phoenix.

Veterans' singles, for players over 40 years of age, present champion, Dr. W. W. Wilkinson of Phoenix.

Veterans' doubles, present holders, R. P. Green and Rupert Moore of Globe.

Ladies' singles, open to all; no previous contests in this division.

Consolidation single.

In addition to the challenge cups, trophy cups will be given for keeps to the winners and runners up in each division.

Rome dispatch says it is stated in high official quarters that it is becoming increasingly improbable that Italy will participate in the war, at least for some time.

EXPO. NOT TO RAISE PRICE OF COAST HOTEL

Los Angeles Hotel Announces
That Heavy Traffic will not Disturb Rates.

The management of the Hotel Clark of Los Angeles has announced that its regular tariff will remain in effect throughout 1915. The Clark is one of the largest European plan hotels in California and is said to be the only one having a private bath for each of the 555 guest rooms.

When F. M. Dimmick, the well-known hotel man opened the Hotel Clark, he had no idea the hostelry would prove to be one of the most popular on the coast within less than a year's time. This marvelous record has occasioned considerable comment among hotel men. From the very beginning the Clark has met with success and is now familiar to thousands of prominent travelers all over the country. The Clark is delightfully different from the ordinary hotel. Notwithstanding its great size, there prevails an inviting and charming atmosphere and the management has made it a part of the service to fulfill every possible need and requirement of each patron. The appointments are beautiful and homelike and the hotel is situated in an ideal part of Los Angeles, near Central Park and close to everything, yet sufficiently removed from noise and other disturbances.

The Clark will be the center of the leading conventions held in Los Angeles this summer and over 10,000 reservations have already been received.

"Wild Bill" Donovan, the new manager of the Yankees, is very happy these spring days, and he has good reason to be. Since Colonel Ruppert and Captain Houston took possession of the New York Yanks, and Bill Donovan took charge, the ginger that has been injected into the team which was once a joke has been the cause of raising them from the subway to the elevated with a look in at first place in the American league.
